Winter 2023

Message From the Chair

Greetings!

I am delighted to share news from the Department of Anthropology! This newsletter contains updates on upcoming events, milestones achieved by alumni, presentations and conferences hosted by our graduate and undergraduate students, awards won by our faculty and post-docs, outreach to various communities, and information on the passing of members from the UK Anthropology community.

We are always looking for additional news from alumni, so feel free to reach out to me. I wish everyone a happy new year!

Best wishes,

Scott Hutson

This fall, the Department of Anthropology's own student-organized Bluegrass Annual Discussions of Anthropology and Social Sciences featured a full program with 12 scholarly presentations, three posters, a round table discussion on identity in the archaeological workspace, and a keynote address from NKU's Dr. Sharyn Jones. Anthropology Ph.D. students Michael Steenken, Leah Bottger, and Jaycee Castro organized the conference with help from faculty advisors Scott Hutson and Geoff McCafferty and several graduate students. A special thank you to our sponsors, Waypoint LLC, CRA, and the Student Sustainability Council.

Alum Dr. MaryBeth Chrostowsky Receives the Prestigious Fulbright Scholarship Award

Dr. MaryBeth Chrostowsky (Ph.D. 2014) is spending the year as a Fulbright Scholar in Uganda. Currently teaching at Georgia Gwinnett College, Chrostowsky will work in the Refugee and Migrant Studies Program at Uganda Martyrs University. Chrostowsky has conducted extensive research on migration from South

Sudan. She will continue this work during her Fulbright year, focusing on kinship patterns among South Sudanese refugees currently in Uganda. Read More

Alum Dr. Katie Zapel Featured by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation

In her recent interview with the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, Dr. Katie Zapel (M.A. 2017, Ph.D. 2022) highlights her cross disciplinary work as the historian and archives manager for Zippo Manufacturing Company. Dr. Zapel has done everything from managing archives to planning, creating, and installing the “Masters of Metalworking” exhibit for the Zippo/Case Museum. Dr. Zapel wrote her dissertation on gendered labor among an indigenous group of weavers (Otavaleños) in the Ecuadorian Andes. Her connection with the Zippo lighter company began with an internship in 2015. Read More

In Memoriam

The Department of Anthropology was saddened to hear of the deaths of four past members of our community - Dr. Art Gallaher, and alumni Dr. Ahmed Herzenni, Dr. Olaf Jaime Riverón, and alum Chi Woodrich.

Dr. Art Gallaher was a cultural and applied anthropology faculty member who chaired the department from 1970-1972 and later served as the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences (1972-1980) and Chancellor (1982-1989).

Dr. Ahmed Herzenni was a Moroccan intellectual and human rights activist who earned his Ph.D. from UK's anthropology and sociology departments in 1995. He returned to the university in 2014 to accept the Thomas R. Ford Distinguished Lecture Award.

Dr. Olaf Jaime-Riverón completed his Ph.D. on basalt ground stone industries at Tres Zapotes in 2016 under the supervision of Chris Pool. He was the director of the El Tajín archaeological site in Veracruz, Mexico.

Chi Woodrich was a masters student in the department from 2011 to 2013 and a proud member of the Ho-Chunk Nation.

The New Olaf Jaime-Riverón Memorial Fund Supports International Graduate Students

The Department of Anthropology announces the creation of the Olaf Jaime-Riverón Graduate Student Support Fund, which will be used as an emergency fund to help defray unexpected financial burdens incurred by international graduate students in the department. Dr. Jaime-Riverón came to UK from Mexico in 2005. He was dearly loved among the anthropology community for his intellect, joviality, generosity, and tenacity, inspiring many of us by rebounding from a debilitating heat stroke in 2007. He completed his dissertation in 2016 under the guidance of Chris Pool and had risen to the rank of site and museum director of El Tajín in Veracruz, Mexico before his untimely death in November 2023. Your gift to the Olaf Jaime-Riverón Memorial Fund will make a meaningful impact on the lives of our international students.

PLEASE SUPPORT THE ANTHROPOLOGY DEPARTMENT WITH A GIFT TODAY

The Department of Anthropology offers students opportunities to learn about the diverse people of today's world, as well as about their biological and cultural origins. We train students to become professional anthropologists who can engage in both academic and non-academic settings, with strong foundations in theoretical and substantive areas. Your donation today is an investment in the future of the department and the next generation of scholars. You can also make your gift to honor or memorialize a friend, relative, or faculty member. Please designate your donation to an area of your choice, or you can direct your gift to the department's greatest needs:

- The Adelski Endowed Fellowship in Anthropology was established by the estate of Elizabeth Adelski (M.A. '80, Ph.D. '85) to support graduate students in this department. To make an online gift to this fund, please visit www.as.uky.edu/givetoas and type "Adelski Fellowship" in the search box at the top of the screen.
- The Anthropology Legacy Endowment Fund was established by William Schweri (B.A. '69, M.A. '78) to offer students experiences in real-world settings that enrich what is learned in the classroom, such as student internships, travel to academic conferences, travel abroad, and research. To make an online gift to this fund, please click here.
- The Anthropology Development Fund provides critical resources for responding to student needs, attracting world-class faculty, and supporting innovative research opportunities that enable our students to compete in the global marketplace. To make an online gift to this fund, please click here.
